Note to Online Shoppers

Online shopping is a great experience and can often be gratifying without the hassle of going into an actual shop. But before you get into the spirit of shopping, here are several risks you should be aware of:

- Phishing sites or invitation/enticement to visit a bogus website. So make sure you verify the details with your chosen blog shop seller.
- Late and/or failed delivery, defects, mismatch in item description or buyer expectations. The Maybank Group and/or its affiliates shall not be held liable for and do not have any control whatsoever over any purchases paid for using Maybank2u Pay.
- Please be reminded that Maybank2u only approves the Maybank2u Pay facility for blog shops which trade items under the following categories:
 1. Accessories & Clothing
 2. Electronics
 3. Food
 4. Leisure (Music/Books)

Maybank2u does not approve the trading of items including but not limited to alcohol, tobacco, imitation goods of any nature including that of which infringes on intellectual property rights, gambling-related products and or services, offensive or indecent material such as adult toys and entertainment material, stolen goods, weapons such as knives, air guns, illegal laser pointers or any form of weaponry which may require a special permit or any other items or services deemed illegal under the laws of Malaysia.*

Here are some pointers to help you avoid the above risks

- Check out the official list of blog shops registered with Maybank2u Pay, updated on a periodical basis.
- If a blog shop displays a Maybank2u Pay icon but the name of the blog is not listed under the official list of registered blog shops on Maybank2u, we strongly advise you against making the payment until further notice.
- Do not click on any email links or links provided by a third party claiming to direct you to blog shops.
- For more tips and safety measures when shopping online, kindly refer to Guidelines on Performing Electronic Transaction by the Ministry of Domestic Trades, Co-operatives and Consumerism (MDTCC).
